Vienna and the Exposition.

The year 1873 will witness a tide of travel setting toward Vienna similar to that which made Paris, in 1867, the shore for which all argosies and pleasure barges set sail. And Vienna is just the one city of the world which has any claim to emulate Paris in the getting up of a great exposition. It is cosmopolitan, it is brilliant, it is on the great highway of travel, and it is hospitable. The sovereign and authorities of Vienna have certainly spared no pains or expense to make the Exposition successful. They have built in the Prater—the very finest park in the world—buildings of surpassing grandeur and convenience. The Prater is always a sort of bazar, a gay fair in which all nations are represented, and the buildings now built in it are as the centre of many wings already prepared through many years, and such as present attractions which it requires generations and many races to supply. The Austrian commissioners began by corresponding with and securing the co-operation of the most influential, energetic, and scientific men in every country. The list of their co-operators amounts to many thousands. These commissioners comprise many of the most distinguished scientific men in the country. In consultation with them the Austrian directors have issued to each country special requests that its specialties of art or production shall be carefully represented; this being carried to the extent of the desire expressed to Mr. Jay that an American free school should be sent over, with the children in it, all at their regular tasks! A question may indeed arise whether Vienna will be able to entertain the enormous number of people flocking thither, and it is probable that hotel prices may run rather high. But Vienna is a larger place than most people think; including its suburbs, it is almost as large as New York, and it is not so crowded. We are told also that citizens have so much interest in the success of the Exposition that many who do not wish to make money by it are offering moieties of their houses for the use of hotel-keepers, in case their establishments shall overflow.

In order to promote the success of the Exposition the emperor has given up to the chief commissioner, Baron Schwartz, his private gardens, bordering the Prater, so that the area occupied is immense—just five times as large as that occupied by the Paris Exposition of 1867. This domain of the Emperor, the Krieger, used to be a deer park, and though the animals have disappeared, there are still about it some features of a forest. Though the commissioner has had to cut down some of these to make way for the vast buildings, he has preserved them as much as possible, and he has left a cluster of small green trees in the center of the rotunda itself. This rotunda is the finest ever put up. It was designed by the English architect Mr. Scott Russell, and executed by an Englishman also, Mr. Harcourt, though in Westphalian works. It is 370 feet in span, 300 feet in height, weighs 40,000 tons, and was raised by 240 workmen to its secure place on thirty-two massive square columns. From this rotunda there run great avenues, with numerous transverse paths, all well lighted from the sides, as well as from the rotunda, it being a bit of experience, gathered from the Paris Exposition, that the lighting from above exclusively is unsatisfactory. The general hues used in the decoration—which is of the Florentine Renaissance style—are blue and gold, which, relieved by dark red pillars, have a very brilliant effect. Since November last the preparations have been sufficiently advanced for visitors to be admitted, and the small payment required has already netted a considerable sum. The visitor passes through a beautiful entrance in Tyrolean chalet style, at which two noble avenues of horse-chestnut trees converge. The splendid avenues stretch out on every side, and the kiosks, bazars, mosques, and cafes make up a sort of medley Oriental city.

There is one respect in which the Vienna Exposition will far surpass in interest any other that has ever been held—that is, the varieties of races and costumes which will be witnessed at it.

A visit to that city even in ordinary times is equal to a year of ethnological study. Of the two great navigable water-paths between Europe and the East—the Adriatic, with Trieste at its head, and the Danube, with Vienna for its portal—this is the one along which the historic development of commerce and civilization has taken place. The Turkish Jews, who, driven out of Spain, had to find among the followers of Mohammed the protection which the followers of Christ denied them, became the chief agents of the great current of trade between Asia and Europe. They still use Spanish as their regular language, while they wear—at least the men do—the Oriental costume, which makes their entrance into Turkey more easy. At the same time there is blended with this costume most oddly certain antique Syrian vestments. (Among those banished from Spain was a patriarch who then took the name of Disraeli, the founder of the family which has become historical in England.) The streets of Vienna are agreeable varied with Armenians and Russians (really Hungarians), all of whom are engaged in plying between Vienna and the East, but are usually habited in the styles which are more adapted to the Asiatic cities, where dress is of more importance to free and easy intercourse. Nevertheless, as those who have visited Asia Minor, or even Little Russia alone, well know, these international costume have some features of compromise, and it will be at the great Exposition that the real masquerade of all the costumes of the East will perpetually move along the streets of Vienna.—M. D. CONWAY, in Harper's Magazine for May.

Personnel of the New Party.

The Chicago Tribune proposes to organize a "new Liberal party," which, it confidently asserts, will sweep the country. What is to be done with the old Liberal party is not foreshadowed, but we imagine it will not be difficult to dispose of that. Like the Chicago Times, the Tribune is going to have none but honest men in this new organization. It is going to be opposed to corruption of every kind; it will work against monopolies, against extravagance, immorality, and disregard of life and reputation, and the reckless squandering of the public funds. It must act under party discipline, and be led by honest and competent leaders.

It will be easy to form such a party, no doubt; and, in constructing it, we can readily see what special duty the various "leaders" will be assigned. The Times, for instance, will take the part of moral instructor, and will also be the special champion of the clause in the new platform which pronounces against the "reckless disregard of reputation." The Tribune will have under its especial control the plank against railroad extortions, for which its recent course in regard to monopolies so eminently fits it. Its noble record as a friend of the farmers is set forth in another column; and numerous extracts given from its editorials, showing with what zeal and honesty it champion this cause. Its experience in whisky frauds will also enable it to lend much assistance in ferreting out rascals who are engaged in the "corrupting" business. The other honest leaders of the new party will doubtless be Trumbull, Rice, Tipton, Hamilton and others of the "old" Liberal warriors, who have lately made such a strike in the salary steel, and each one of whom will have forward the incidental expenses of pushing the new movement. These will be the captains, the leaders par excellence of the new organization. The lieutenants will be composed of Caldwell, Oakes Ames, and other distinguished politicians, whose "reputations" have been "disregarded" by the party to which they have heretofore belonged, and who signify their intention of quitting it, and casting their lot with the first party that presents itself.

Who doubts that virtue will reign in the new movement? Then there are those three noble New Hampshire patriots, heretofore acting with the Liberal-Democratic organization; who so manfully stood up against the increase of salaries; voted against the bill, refused to draw their pay after it passed; went immediately into the canvass for a re-election, and, after it was all over, modestly wrote to Washington for their checks, and pocketed their $5,000 with a quiet smile of satisfaction at having done their duty. Of course these men must be included in the "honest men" who are to organize and give tone to the new party.

Of such leaders and followers must the new Liberal party be composed, if it is ever organized. Is it not almost incredible that even the Times and Tribune can so presume upon the credulity, the sober sense of the people, as to propose the formation of an honest party, opposed to corruption, to immorality, to monopolies, with themselves as its organs and leaders? The notorious caterer to vice and prurency defending virtue and morality! The known and well-recognized organ of railways putting itself forward as the champion of the anti-monopolists! What a picture for serious contemplation! And yet, have we overdrawn it? Look at the extracts from the Tribune, which we publish in another column, regarding farmers and the railway war. Look at the extracts from the Times, and imagine it the guardian of morality!

The New Hampshire election, to which the Tribune refers, is full of warning to these bargainers and conspirators, full of suggestions all over the country. Notwithstanding the corruption that had been unveiled, and the stupidity and selfishness that have been displayed by some Republican officials, the people of New Hampshire wisely concluded that their only hope at last lay in a strict adherence to the old Republican doctrine. Men might prove corrupt and deceitful, but principles endured forever. They wisely suspected the Liberal-Democratic members of Congress, who, under the pressure of an immediate election, voted against the salary inquiry. That they judged them justly is now abundantly apparent, since each one has possessed himself of the dishonest funds which he before refused. They selected men—faithful, as they believed—and went into the fight with honesty and integrity on their banners, intertwined with the old mottoes of Republicanism and Equal Rights. They won, as they deserved to win, and to-day, the State has trusty servants, not right in one thing alone, but right throughout their whole record, and in all the principles which animated them. Here is an example for the Republicans of the Northwest to follow. An honest Democrat is to be commended; an honest Liberal is to be praised; but an honest Republican is better than both, for he is thoroughly right, and it is better to be right in all things than in one alone.

We have plenty of honest Republicans, let us select the best of them for our chosen representatives. When they can no longer be found, it will be time to look about for a new party, and to select the Times and Tribune to lead honest (f) men to victory.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A Sad Story.

To-day there is a man going about the streets of this city, ragged, dirty and penniless, subsisting on free lunches and the charity of gamblers, and has not slept in a bed for months, who, during the war was one of the most dashing cavalry officers in the Union army, and was promoted from the rank of First-Lieutenant to full Brigadier and Brevet Major-General, for brilliant exploits on the field of battle, and who for a long time had a large and important command.

He has been here for two months, under an assumed name, being ashamed to dim the brilliancy of his record in the service of his country by an exhibition of his degradation under his former honored name. He is generally very reticent, having little to do with any one, or talking but little save when "engineering" for a drink, at which he is remarkably successful.

Night before last, while lying helplessly drunk in the rear part of a Third street saloon, some men thought to play a joke on him by stealing his shirt, and proceeded to strip him. Underneath his shirt, and suspended by a string around his neck, was a small canvas bag, which the men opened and found it to contain his commission as Brevet Major-General, two congratulatory letters, one from Grant and one from President Lincoln, a photograph of a little girl and a curl of hair—a "chestnut shadow" that had doubtless crept over the brow of some loved one.

When these things were discovered even the half-drunk men who found them felt a respect for the man's former greatness; and pity for his fallen condition, and quietly replaced the bag and contents to where they found them and replaced the sleeper's clothes upon him. Yesterday a News reporter tried to interview the man and endeavor to learn something of his life in the past few years, but he declined to communicate anything. He cried like a child when told how his right name and former position were ascertained, and, with tears trickling down his cheeks, said: "For God's sake, sir, don't publish my degradation, or my name at least, if you are determined to say something about it. It is enough to know myself how low I have become. Will you promise that much? It will do no good, but will do my friends a great deal of harm, as, fortunately, they think I died in South America, where I went at the close of the war."

Intemperance and the gaming table, he said, had wrought his ruin.—Kansas City News.

A Word to Young Men.

One of the meanest things a young man can do, and it is not an uncommon occurrence, is to monopolize the time and attention of a young lady for a year or more, without any definite object, and to the exclusion of any other gentleman, who, supposing him to have matrimonial intentions, absent themselves from her society. It prevents the reception of eligible offers of marriage, and fastens upon the young lady, when the acquaintance is finally ended, the unmerited appellation of "flirt." Let all your dealings with women, young men, be frank, honest and noble. That many, whose education and position in like manner would warrant our looking for better things, are culpably criminal on these points, is no excuse for shortcomings. That woman is often injured and wronged through her holiest feelings, adds a deeper dye to your meanness. One rule is always safe: Treat every woman you meet as you would wish every man to treat your innocent, confiding sister.

The Troy (N. Y.) Times, mentions a curious case of somnambulism, which recently occurred in that city. A young lady, a visitor from a neighboring State, who was an accomplished musician and gifted singer, one night recently, attended a party, where, in response to repeated invitations, she sang and played until she had quite exhausted herself. The company broke up at about 1 o'clock, and at two o'clock the young lady retired. In about an hour, music was heard proceeding from her room. It continued so long that one of the members of the family arose, and, upon entering the apartment of the young lady, found her asleep, and singing with all her power. She tried to awaken her, but the effort was unavailing. She continued, going from one song to another, for upwards of an hour, when nature seemed to be exhausted, and the somnambulist sank into a real sleep. Upon awakening the next morning she knew nothing of the occurrence.

Charles Parson, a reporter at Williamsburg, N. Y., suicided the other day. He left a note to a brother reporter, saying: "Fix this thing up fine Jim—put it under a double head." Jim did so.

The Detroit Weekly

TRIBUNE

FOR 1873.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

The DETROIT WEEKLY TRIBUNE, one of the oldest and most firmly established Republican newspapers of the country, has been enlarged by the addition of one column to each of its pages, and is now a fifty-six column newspaper, and one of the largest weeklies published in the North West.

This marked increase in its size, and therefore, in the amount and variety of its contents, is not accompanied with any increase in its subscription price; which remains at the old figures of $3.00 for single subscriptions, or $1.50 for subscriptions in clubs of twenty or more, or five papers for $9.00, or ten for $16.00.

Will M. Carleton,

the famous "farm ballad" poet is a regular contributor to its columns, and during 1873 will furnish a New series of "Farm Ballads," written especially for the Tribune. This fact will be learned with pleasure by the thousands who have read with such rare delight his "Betsey and I are Out," "Out of the Old House Nancy," etc.

The Detroit weekly Tribune is also a carefully edited Journal, which publishes in compact form all the news of the day, Foreign and Domestic; which is especially attentive to all matters possessing a Michigan interest; which gives full and accurate Commercial Reports; and which presents to its readers a large range of choice literary and miscellaneous selections.

Its Agricultural department is under the charge of an experienced and practical editor, and furnishes an increasingly popular medium for the interchange of opinions and facts among its subscribers.

The present circulation of The Weekly Tribune exceeds that of the combined weekly editions of all the other Detroit political journals, and will undoubtedly be greatly increased during the coming year.

It is published on the new four-column rotary press of The Tribune establishment, which is the only one of the kind in Michigan.

HOLLAND CITY NEWS

S. L. MORRIS, Editor.

SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1873.

NOW IS THE TIME.

After a long and hard winter of struggling through a reactionary crisis, we are at last upon the threshold of another busy season.

Each year brings its cares and duties; its sunshine and its darkness; yet the world does not stop to view the different phases of man's activity. To a little city like ours, stricken down in its infancy, the stringency of money, with a large list of people whose only capital is in fair weather and strong arms, the past winter has been particularly severe, and many misgivings of future success has been the result. But as the season approaches for improvements, we notice a look of satisfaction upon the faces of our people; the old favorite look of energy and perseverance is again indicative that something must be done, and they are going to do it. Already, the wonted zeal of our inhabitants is manifested in various new enterprises being talked of, and the numerous new dwellings being erected in the different parts of our city.

To the croakers who say that we are decreasing in population, and are going to the bad generally, we are prepared to inform them that they are mistaken.

It is a significant fact, that with the large number of new dwellings built last year, there is yet a great demand for more. The great inquiry now is, "Do you know of rooms to rent?" Such incidents denote a healthy condition among the people, and it only remains for the business man to perform his duties in such a way as to encourage this feeling by creating a larger demand for labor, and the introduction of new enterprises; keeping in view the encouragement of our churches and schools.

Already business begins to assume a more lively aspect; merchants and mechanics are more cheerful; the atmosphere is more buoyant; the fish begin to swim; the logs are coming down, and our ship of gold is nearly in view. Let us secure it.

Individuals die, but principles live forever! A party may bury a host of leaders, yet if it adheres to principle, its strength remains unimpaired. The principles of justice underlie the Republican party. They forced it into being; they sustained it through unequal conflict; they upheld it in the hour of supreme trial. The people endorsed it because it proclaimed freedom as the birthright of man, and because they saw in it the only power that could overthrow the despotism of human slavery and the corrupt party that stood between it and outraged liberty. It accomplished what it set out to do. The institution of slavery is no more. The chattels of yesterday have been transformed into the freemen of to-day. The Democratic party exists only in the traditions of the past. A new era has dawned upon American civilization. This glorious work has been the work of the people. They have recognized and followed their leaders as long as those leaders showed devotion to the principles of the party. They abandoned them when they found them untrue to the trust confided in them. The leaders of the past are not the leaders of the present. A few have survived the temptations and trials of years, but the many have either fallen in honorable service, or been left behind because they were found unworthy to lead the advance. Still the party lives, because its principles are as pure and strong as ever. That bad men have crept into its ranks and worn its honors cannot be denied, but when discovered they have been driven from power as unworthy of trust. We have an abiding faith in the Republican party. As long as the people of the nation endorse the principles of justice, the party will live and exert a controlling influence on national affairs. From time to time we shall hear of official corruption, but in the future, as in the past, the Republican party will neither justify or defend it. It has already given abundant evidence of its intention to ferret out and punish rascality wherever found. The party that keeps a vigilant eye upon its own members, that is quick to expose the shortcomings of its own leaders, that has set its face against corruption in whatever form it appears, is a safe party to trust. It is too early to begin another campaign, but we warn our Democratic friends not to take much stock in the Liberal machine that is being constructed to squash the glorious old party of freedom.—Republic.

THE FINISHING STROKES.

The finest embellishment to the place which we have had the pleasure to observe, is about being completed, and it is with pride that we recognize it as the greatest achievement of this city since the fire of 1871. We allude to the on the corner of Eighth and Market streets, which has been cleared of all scaffolding, and is now receiving the finishing touches from the hands of B. Grotenhuis, who has had charge of the painting and graining of the entire house.

The main building is 40x80 feet, four stories high, including the basement, which is well lighted and airy, finished into rooms as healthy, and nearly as pleasant as any in the house. On this floor, fronting to the south, is the billiard room, 40x42 feet in size, opening into barber shop in rear, 21x40 feet and wine cellar of same size. From the shop, a flight of stairs will lead you to the reception hall above the main entrance, from Market street, 9x22 feet, leading to dining hall and floor above. In front of this hall is main office, 22x36 feet in size; opposite is baggage room and wash-room. From the entrance hall, we reach the dining hall, 22x42 feet, as also the stairs leading to the third floor, into hall 9x80 feet, on either side of which, are the parlors, sitting-room, and sleeping apartments of good size, 10x16 feet, and well ventilated. There are 14 rooms on this floor.

The upper story contains 10 rooms and a hall 17x80 feet; high, between joists, 11 feet. The height of each of the lower stories is 14 feet in the clear. There is one store in the block, 22x40 feet, not connected with the hotel.

THE KITCHEN DEPARTMENT.

is about 30 feet square, and three stories high, including the basement, which is calculated for a laundry. The kitchen proper, is 16x30 feet, connecting on same floor with three large rooms for female help. On the third floor, are 4 good living rooms, single or double, as may be required.

The whole building is constructed in the most approved style of veneered work, externally, with iron cornice etc. Inside, the best of mechanics have been employed, who, under the direction of J. W. Minderhout, the architect and contractor, have spared no pains to have their work well and thoroughly done.

The wood work of the entire building has been grained or stained by B. Grotenhuis, of whom it may be said, he has no superior, and but few equals in his line of work.

Messrs. Boone & Duursema, the proprietors, are deserving of the best wishes of this whole people for the energy displayed in building for this city, a structure, which for some years to come, is to be the pride of its inhabitants; a building not too large for our business, yet of sufficient size to accommodate all in the best of style, making it nearly a first class house, with such an investment as will pay a liberal per cent. on the whole amount invested. The cost of building, and furniture, will fall not far short of $25,000.

The hotel has been leased to Mr. Kellogg, of Grand Rapids, and will be open for public business the first of next month.

Hon. E. J. Harrington, according to request of Citizens' Association, visited Col. S. M. Mansfield at Detroit, this week, and reports prospects encouraging for immediate and energetic action relative to the improvement of our harbor. The following is the reply of Col. Mansfield, to the resolution conveyed to him, from the Association here:

DERROIT, April 23, 1873.

Hon. E. J. Harrington: DEAR SIR:—Upon reading the resolution you have handed me just now, made at a meeting of the citizens of Holland, held on Monday, April 21st, 1873, with reference to hastening the completion of the work of harbor improvement, and especially referring to the dredging of the channel so as to admit steamers at as early a day as possible, I have the honor to reply that I will use my best endeavors to secure a channel by dredging, and that at once, believing that by opening a cut of sufficient depth, thus early in the season, sufficient water may remain through the entire season.

Yours, very respectfully,

J. M. MANSFIELD.

Capt. Engineers, Brevet Lieut.-Col., U. S. A.

ROMNEY.—The dwelling of Rev. Mr. Van Der Mullen, Pastor of the First Holland Church, was entered by burglars on Sunday evening while the family were absent, and two coats, each valued at $25, stolen therefrom. The thieves made a thorough search for money but failed to find any.—Muskegon Chronicle.

CITIZENS' MEETING.

An adjourned meeting of the citizens of this city, was held at the office of THE NEWS, on Monday evening last, E. J. Harrington in the chair.

The several committees were called upon to report; reported progress, and asked for further time, which was granted. After some preliminary conversation, it was moved and seconded that we proceed to a permanent organization.

On motion, a committee was appointed to draft a platform for association, and report officers for the same this evening. The chairman appointed G. W. McBride, H. Walsh and Morris.

Chairman introduced the subject of iron ore.

It was duly moved and seconded, that a committee be appointed to make a careful examination of the iron ore beds, and report to us—carried.

J. Aling, B. Grotenhuis, R. Kanter and J. W. Minderhout were appointed such committee.

Committee on permanent organization reported as follows:

The undersigned, a committee appointed to report a platform for an association of the citizens of this city, and a list of officers to be elected for such Association, would respectfully report the following as the object of the Association, to wit:

"The object of this Association is to invite immigration, promote manufacturing, and encourage every laudable enterprise. To develop our resources in mechanical arts, manufacturing, educational and business prospects."

That the name of this Association shall be "The Citizens' Association of Holland," and would recommend that the officers consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted,

G. W. McBRIDE,
H. WALSH,
S. L. MORRIS,
Committee.

It was duly moved and seconded that the report be accepted and adopted—carried.

E. J. Harrington was duly nominated and elected President. N. Kenyon was duly nominated and elected Vice President; Dr. S. L. Morris was duly nominated and elected Secretary, and H. Walsh was duly nominated and elected Treasurer.

On motion, duly seconded, it was Resolved, That a committee of one be appointed for each ward, to solicit subscriptions—carried.

Chairman appointed for the First Ward, R. Kanter; for the Second Ward, H. Vaupel; for the Third Ward, J. W. Minderhout; for the Fourth Ward, S. Reidsema.

On motion duly seconded, Resolved, That a committee of three members of "Business Men's Association" be appointed to see the Treasurer and see if his funds can be made available.

The following were duly nominated and elected: E. J. Harrington, S. Reidsema, and G. Van Schelven.

It was moved and seconded, that a person be appointed to go and see Col. Mansfield with a petition—carried.

Chairman appointed Mr. Nathan Kenyon for that purpose. Mr. Kenyon declining, his nomination was withdrawn; whereupon E. J. Harrington was duly nominated and elected to go to Detroit and confer with Col. Mansfield.

Moved, seconded and carried, to adjourn till next week Monday, at the same time and place.

HARBOR BOARD.

On Monday last, the Harbor Board, together with several persons interested in the efforts to improve navigation, visited the mouth of the river for the purpose of ascertaining the situation of the works there, and to inform themselves more particularly what is needed to secure depth of water sufficient to admit the passage of any ordinary craft trading on the lake.

The party, on board the Fanny Shriver, left the wharf about 2 o'clock p. m., with two vessels in tow, which somewhat impeded our progress, but owing to the good feeling manifested, air castles were built, which were speedily demolished. One of the finest projects built by argument, was a blast furnace, to use up the large mass of iron ore laying around loose on, as Mr. Fuller says, about 10,000 acres (or less) of land in this vicinity. But before the project was completed we arrived at the harbor, and found the pile drivers hard at work, and the light keeper busy watching for the sun to pass the horizon, that he might send out his lights to guide the mariner on his way. Our gentlemanly captain laid his craft along side the pier and we were permitted to step foot on terra firma, with a view to penetrating the mysteries of the sand hills, and the site surveyed for a dwelling for the light keeper. We found the site but no dwelling, we found the sand hills but no mysteries. We pronounced the piers in statu quo, and everything in good order except a little sand in the channel, which, if removed will give us all the water we want, and we believe can be removed at a very moderate expense.

The furnace, we left on Mr. Fuller's hands, and shall hope that he will work out the problem of how to build it and how to run it after it is built. We shall certainly favor every effort that will tend to encourage the enterprise, and believe it is a project well worthy the careful consideration of us all.

Becoming satisfied of the practicality of our harbor, the party again set foot on the Fanny, and with a good head of steam, started for the city. The Fanny Shriver was in the best of trim, Capt. Upham feeling good, and engineer Brower willing to test the speed of his craft, consequently the return trip from the piers to the city was made in 39 minutes, including one stop, equal to 12 miles per hour.

Altogether the trip was a pleasant one, and we trust not without its good results, in bringing together the views of the town and city, whose interests are identical regarding the improvements of our harbor.

IRON ORE.

We are glad to learn that a competent committee has been appointed by the Citizens' Association to thoroughly examine the iron beds near this city. As yet no definite conclusion has been arrived at as to the probable amount of ore in this vicinity.

From a partial examination which we made some years since, we are confident that a larger quantity exists there than is generally supposed by our neighbors, and of a quality, as proved by those who have used it at the Lawton Iron Works, far superior to much that is being used in other parts of the country. It is easy of access, and can, with but little expense, be delivered to a furnace.

We shall watch with anxiety, the report of the committee to whom has been entrusted the task of securing all the information necessary to a proper appreciation of this matter.

The gentlemen appointed are men upon whose report we can rely. Wait for the report.

FRUIT PROSPECTS FOR 1873.

From the American Farm Journal.

It is now evident that the coming season will be as remarkable for the scarcity of fruits as the past one for abundance. Not only are the peaches killed throughout the entire country almost, but in all the central and western States nearly all other fruits are killed or badly damaged. Most of the pears and heart cherries, grapes and blackberries, and best kind of raspberries are destroyed for this season; so that with the exception of strawberries and currants, there will be very few summer fruits in the markets or in family gardens. The apple crop, too, in consequence of the heavy crop the past season, and some injury to trees by winter, is sure to be a light one—if not almost a failure; for a very light crop will only be sufficient to feed the host of insects that prey upon this fruit.

These facts afford some hints of practical value at this time to fruit growers, and market gardeners, and housewives.

In the first place strawberry beds should have extra care the present spring to secure as good a crop of this fruit as possible, for it will be sure to bring good prices. The same remarks will apply to other kinds of summer fruits, as raspberries and blackberries, whenever the bushes are alive; and Morrello cherries and gooseberries will pay this year for sending a longer distance to market than usual—hence all should have good culture this spring. The same, of course, is true of apples and pears; wherever trees show blossoms and set fruit, they should be cherished with care; and be sure to thin the fruit if it sets too thickly; especially if designed for a distant market, for it is only fine fruit that yields a profit in such cases.

Market gardeners will find more demand for vegetables, when fruit is scarce, especially for salads and tomatoes, melons, etc. They will of course plant an extra amount of these things. Housewives will use more sparingly their dried and canned fruits, and see that the worms do not get into the former when warm weather comes—then if they have a surplus it can be kept for another season. It is now a good time to put up cans of maple syrup, which is a good substitute for canned fruit when the latter is exhausted—especially for young folks. We need not elaborate this question, however, as the merits of maple syrup are well understood.

Holland, April 26, 1873.

Local News.

Work has been resumed on Hope Church by contractor J. W. Minderhout. It is to be completed and ready for occupancy by the first day of October next.

BURGLARY.—On Thursday evening last, J. Van Landegend's hardware store was entered, and goods to the amount of about $100 taken. Among the articles stolen, were 3 revolvers, 2 dozen German silver spoons, 3 boxes of carpenter's rules, one carving knife and fork, and several other small articles. The entrance was effected through a cellar window.

A CARD.—I would inform my patrons that I am again prepared, to do Dressmaking in all its branches, and would call the attention of the Ladies of Holland to my Improved Corset, which I make to order. They are the best and easiest Corset made, not excepting Thomson's Glove Fitting Corset. I also make Lord & Taylor's Standard trimming for Ladies' and Children's Garments.

Very respectfully,
Mrs. C. M. ROGERS.

DICE AND HARD CIDER.—On Monday evening last, a difficulty occurred at Lassman's saloon, near Metz' tannery in the township of Holland, which resulted in Lassman's face swelling badly, and Fred Metz receiving a slight wound in the left hip, claimed by Metz to have been inflicted with a knife. A preliminary examination of the case was had before Justice Post, on Thursday, which elicited the fact that dice and hard cider were the disturbers of the peace.

The river steamers, Aunt Betsy and Helen Mar, are to be withdrawn from the Kalamazoo River. The Aunt Betsy is to be taken to the Mississippi, and the Helen Mar to Minnesota, thus closing up steamboat navigation on the Kalamazoo River. Now comes the opportunity for Holland to open up a steamboat route direct with Chicago, that our friends in Allegan may ship their freight via this port. We doubt not if we can give them facilities for doing business here, they will gladly accept them. Strike while the iron is hot.

WARD COMMITTEES.—We hope the several ward committees appointed at the last meeting of the Citizens' Association, will make a thorough canvass of their respective localities, and be able to report a hearty response from the people in aid of efforts being made to secure united and energetic action to further the material interests of this city. It is hoped and expected that every property holder here, will take hold of the work, put his shoulder to the wheel and help the good work along. Already, the evidence of work is seen in the reply of Col. Mansfield to the committee deputed to visit him, and it only remains for us to show a commendable zeal in what we undertake to do, and we shall have the things which are rightfully ours.

To Destroy Worms on Fruit Trees.

From the American Farm Journal.

Mr. J. G. Mallick writes to the Farm Journal, to give what he designates as "a sure kill for borers and worms on fruit trees." He says:

"Take one gallon of soft soap, one quart of salt, one pint spirits of turpentine, one pound of raw tobacco, and boil all except the turpentine together, until it is well decocted together, and while cooling add the turpentine, and when cool wash the trees thoroughly about the roots and up to the limbs, and it will kill and expel every worm. The washing should be done in May and August.

"The above wash will not only kill and expel the worms, but it will give the bark of the tree a beautiful and healthy color; and for old trees there should be added to the above, two ounces of Paris green. Some say it is beneficial in all cases but I think not."

[UP STAIRS.]
WHO has for the past twelve years been located in Opera Block, has now, since being burned out, removed his stock to 38 Canal street, where he continues to cure every description of ACUTE, CHRONIC and PRIVATE DISEASES, on the most reasonable terms. He manufactures all his remedies from the raw material, hence, known to be PURELY VEGETABLE. He uses no MINERALS or POISONS. Having prescribed for over eighteen years, without losing ONE OF THEM, where he was the only doctor called. He guarantees reasonable satisfaction in the treatment of every disease which afflicts humanity.
He keeps constantly on hand over 200 kinds of the most choice Roots, Bark and Herbs, and over 100 kinds of his own manufacture of medicines. He is to be found at his office at all hours—day or night.
Among the leading articles of medicine manufactured by him are: LIVER SYRUP, COUGH SYRUP, and PAINFUL RESTORATIVES; all of which give universal satisfaction. Call on counsel with a doctor who will promise you nothing but what he will faithfully perform and will correctly locate your disease and give you a correct diagnosis of your case without asking you scarcely a question. Liver complaints treated for fifty cents per week, and other diseases in proportion. Council at the office FREE. 25-1.

VINEGAR BITTERS
WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Rye, Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonic," "Appetizer," "Restorer," &c., that make the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin; but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bowels are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Congest, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, are all the most common ailments, the origin of which are caused by Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.
